"Break the Spell is a cathartic, intimate, and ultimately transcendent modern folk record. It's not trendy, or groundbreaking, or particularly adventurous. What it is is very, very real. It gets to you the way you crave a record to get to you."

— Michael L. Walsh, City Pages

"Ellis has one of most engaging personalities that I've ever witnessed on a stage. Within seconds, (you'll fall) in love with her bubbling attitude for life, and her captivating laugh has been echoing in my heart all week!" — Ron Olesko, WFDU

"From the highest highs to the lowest lows, Break the Spell takes listeners on an emotional journey of love, mourning and renewal. And what a voice!"

— Chris Kocher, Press & Sun-Bulletin, Binghamton, NY

"Ellis walks on stage, flashes a bashful grin and does what she does best: singing her heart out every single time. She has a lovely voice, guitar chops and a graceful songwriting style; however, there is something about her live performance that is transformational. The sum is greater than the parts, and she is amazing."

— Dale Schiff, Just Out (Portland)

"Ellis takes all the elements of life (joy, grief, hope, love and more) and distills them into introspective songs that embrace our complicated human existence.

How does it feel? Amazing." — Crystal Sarakas, WSKG Public Radio

"Ellis effectively conveys songs filled with love and the longing for it, baring her soul and demonstrating a vulnerability that makes Break the Spell easily her most compelling attempt yet." — Performing Songwriter Magazine

"She's got real star power, & audiences are utterly mesmerized by her."

— Margaret Coble, Curve Magazine

"A smart writer with a unique folk/rock style, Ellis has a big voice and a fearless approach to serving up her words." — Jim Beal, San Antonio Express-News

"She is unequivocally a lyrical marvel, spilling out crisp, intensely intimate songs that are at once beautiful and haunting." — Rick Farrant, Fort Wayne Journal Gazette

"With a voice as strong as thunder and a message as powerful as a surge of lightning, Ellis pours out her heart and soul into every single word."

— Independent Songwriter Magazine- National
